

Manual Scoring – Fouled Boards and Arrowswitched Boards

There is a very important distinction between a fouled board and arrowswitched board.

A board is scored as fouled if the cards are not in the right pockets e.g. the board's South pocket has the cards that should have been in the West pocket. It is scored as arrowswitched if the cards are all in the right pockets but the wrong player played those cards i.e. the cards from the North pocket were played by the East player. Fouling typically happens if the players at the previous table were careless about replacing the cards. Arrowswitching happens when the board is placed the wrong way on the table i.e. North pointing East.

Fouled Boards

One Fouled Board: award 60% to both NS and EW. Score as for an average and then add 10% to both.

Two fouled boards: award 65% for the better score NS & EW and 55% to the lesser score NS & EW.

Three fouled boards: award 70%, 60%, 50% for the best, second best, and worst NS & EW.

When a board has been played 4 or more times in both the correct and the fouled condition it is scored in 2 groups

Group A: 5 Scores    8    6    4    2    0 available to allocate

Group B: 4 Scores            6    4    2    0 available to allocate

Allocate these as before:

All boards must be worth the same (72 matchpoints).

To every score, add one point for every score in the other group.

Put in the complements for the EW scores.

Check the total. It should come to 72.

Arrowswitched board

When a board is played arrowswitched, both pairs temporarily become part of the other field.

Score the board as usual and then switch the scores for the NS and EW involved.
